

MANAGEMENT PROFILES

JEAN FERRÉ, CEO

Jean Ferré has served as Chief Executive Officer of Sinequa since 2005. Together with Alexandre Bilger, Jean defined the "Connect to Knowledge™" approach that led to the acquisition and repositioning of Sinequa in late 2004.

In 2002, Jean joined BPI Group where he held positions of Managing Director of BPI GmbH in Frankfurt, and Group Finance Director in Paris, where he coordinated international growth.

In 1997, Jean co-founded and was CEO of software publisher Arisem, now a subsidiary of Thales. Previously, Jean worked in the Americas for TCI. Jean began his career in Paris as a consultant with Mac Group and later with AT Kearney.

Jean is a graduate of the École Polytechnique and the University Dauphine and is a former research analyst in industrial economics at the École des Mines.

ALEXANDRE BILGER, CAO

Alexandre Bilger has served as Chief Architect Officer of Sinequa since 2004. In 2004, together with Jean Ferré, he initiated the acquisition of Sinequa.

In 1998, Alexandre co-founded E-Front, a data-processing software publisher specializing in the development of e-Business solutions.

Alexandre started his career by serving five years as an architect at Nat System, a leading publisher of client server development tools.

Alexandre is a graduate of the École Polytechnique and the École des Mines.
